A Reflection by Fr. Denis

The fact that you are reading this now is some indication that you are open to the word of the Lord. It is important that you appreciate this gift, because we cannot accept the gifts of the Lord without accepting responsibility for how we use them. When Jesus speaks of the seed falling on good soil, He said that some produced thirty per cent, some sixty per cent and some one hundred per cent. Even the thirty per cent was considered good soil, because it produced something. I am expected to do the best with what I have. I should hold myself responsible for the gifts God gives me, which, of course, include time, talent, money, etc.

I believe it is necessary to develop a sense of deep gratitude for the blessings of the Lord. I should appreciate His blessings, and acknowledge both the privilege and the responsibility that comes with those blessings. It would be wrong to envy the gifts of another, rather than appreciating my own gifts. I am part of 'a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a peoples set apart' (Peter 2:9). The Jewish religious leaders saw their position as one that was theirs by right, and something that could not be taken from them. Just as I have the gift of life, the time will come when I will have to relinquish that gift for another form of living.

Fr. Denis writes ...

Everybody Loves Raymond was an American

TV comedy series, which ran for nearly ten years. Raymond, his wife and children live in a house on Long Island, New York. Across the street from them live his parents and brother. Connecting the two houses seems to be an invisible path along which Raymond's mother is drawn frequently. She criticises Raymond's wife and generally interferes with the running of the home. Raymond is usually browbeaten by his mother and gives in to her. In the TV show this is good for a laugh, but in real life can exert pressures that override our consciences.

Jesus' words in the gospel may seem to contradict everything He says about loving God and neighbour. What He is really saying is that it is possible that people closest to us may tempt us to turn away from Him. If that happens, He calls us to choose Him in preference to anything else, even our own lives. Carrying a cross may lead to actual martyrdom, which Jesus says we are prepared for. The two examples of the builder and the king tell us that becoming a disciple requires us to use our wits to consider the consequences and to be prepared. Giving up our possessions means that we do not hang back but give ourselves freely.

In our following of Jesus we offer the word of life to others, as Paul says. And in doing so, rather than turning our backs on them, we may draw those who once opposed us to find Him as well.

Sunday Latin Mass: Fr. Denis celebrates the Latin Mass at 5.00 pm on Sundays. The Mass is from the missal of 1962 and fulfils the Sunday obligation.

Circle of Prayer for October – Young People

Dear Lord, many of our children and young people have never heard the truth that they are made in God's image. We pray for protection for the most vulnerable: for those who struggle with eating disorders, who become addicted to drugs, alcohol and immorality, may they come to know You as their Lord and Saviour.
