The Distinguishing Marks of Lent – Fasting

Fasting is the most distinguishing practice of the season of Lent. On two days in Lent, Ash Wednesday and Good Friday, Catholics limit their eating to one full, meatless meal. On all the Fridays of Lent we abstain from meat.

Why do we fast? Our reasons find firm grounding in the Bible. When we fast, we follow holy example. Moses and Elijah fasted forty days before going into God's presence (Exodus 34:28, 1 Kings 19:8). They wanted to see God, and they considered fasting a basic prerequisite. We, too, wish to enter God's presence, so we fast.

Jesus fasted (Matthew 4:2). And since he needed no purification, he surely did this only to set an example for us. In fact, he assumed that all Christians would follow his example. 'When you fast,' he said, 'do not look gloomy like the hypocrites. They neglect their appearance, so that they may appear to others to be fasting' (Mt 6:16). Note that he did not say 'IF you fast' but 'when'.

And WHEN is now. In Lent, the Church extends the idea of fasting beyond the minimal skipping of meals, to a more far-reaching program of self-denial. Jesus said: 'If any man would come after me, let him deny himself ... daily' (Luke 9:23). So we give up something that we would ordinarily enjoy: sweets, alcohol, a favourite TV show, or the snooze alarm.

Fasting has its health benefits, but it's not the same as dieting. Fasting is something spiritual and far more positive. Fasting is a spiritual feast. It does for the soul what food does for the body. Fasting helps us to be detached from the things of this world. We fast, not because earthly things are evil, but precisely because they are good. They are God's gifts to us. But they are so good that we sometimes prefer the gifts to the giver. We practise self-indulgence rather than self-denial. We tend to eat and drink to the point where we forget God. Such indulgence is really a form of idolatry. It is what St Paul meant when he said, 'their god is the belly ... with minds set on earthly things' (Philippians 3:19).

Lent is a special season, but God wants these forty days to have a lasting effect on our lives.

OUR LENTEN CONVERSATION 'OUR PARTICIPATION IN THE MASS' ABOUT SESSION 2 – GATHERING

Each week we are extending the Lenten conversation 'Our Participation in the Mass' to everyone in the parish through this short summary of the session. There are questions to ponder in the week ahead in order that everyone can grow in their appreciation of the jewel of the church – the Mass. Why not join us in person on Tuesday!

We gather in church for the Mass, coming from our own homes bringing together a whole host of life experience, in a variety of states of mind, body and soul. The aim of entering the large space of the church and the first few elements of the Mass are to bring us together as one body. The aim of the Introductory Rites is to establish communion among us all and prepare ourselves more fully to listen to the Word and to celebrate the Eucharist in a well-intentioned way.

The entrance hymn, the greeting, act of penance, the Lord have mercy, Gloria and opening prayer are all intended to open the celebration purposefully and to set the theme and scene for what is the unique event of this day. We are encouraged to open ourselves to everyone around us, as if this day is both the first time we meet and also the gathering of a family as if for a very special day or festival. By adopting this special feeling, we turn our hearts and minds towards being community and through our gestures and actions we are one body – moving and acting as one. The Church describes this state of unity as the place where everyone gathered can be fully, consciously and actively engaged in the liturgy. We can all be certain that as Jesus tells us 'when two or three come together in my name, there I am in your midst' (Matthew; 18:20).

Here are some questions to ponder this week...

- † What does it mean to be a parish?
- † In what way are we a parish community?
- † In what ways do we express our unity in common prayer and actions?
- † What does it mean to be a people 'called together in Jesus Christ'?

He was born in Roman Britain around the end of the fourth century, and died in Ireland about the middle of the fifth century. As a missionary bishop, he endured many hardships and faced opposition even from his friends and fellow Christians. Nevertheless, he worked hard to conciliate, to evangelise, and to educate local chieftains and their families. He is remembered for his simplicity and pastoral care, for his humble trust in God, and for his fearless preaching of the gospel to the very people who had enslaved him in his
